Time Blocking

Time blocking is a scheduling technique where you divide your day into dedicated blocks for specific tasks. It minimizes context switching and improves deep work output.

The Two-Minute Rule

If a task takes less than two minutes, do it immediately rather than adding it to your to-do list. This keeps small tasks from piling up.

Deep Work

Deep work refers to focused, uninterrupted cognitive effort on complex tasks. It produces more value per hour than shallow, distracted work.

Weekly Reviews

A weekly review involves reflecting on your progress, clearing your inbox, and planning the upcoming week. It keeps your goals aligned with your daily actions.

Energy Management

Managing energy levels is as important as managing time. Schedule your most demanding tasks during your peak energy hours, typically morning for most people.

Single-Tasking

Multitasking reduces the quality of all tasks being performed simultaneously. Focusing on one task at a time leads to faster completion and fewer errors.
